

JOINING THE CIRCLE ALLIANCE PROGRAM TO SUPPORT STABLECOIN INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT IN EUROPE

Tractial, a regulated fintech infrastructure provider listed on Euronext Growth Paris, today announced that it has joined the Circle Alliance Program, a global network of companies building with USDC / EURC and on-chain financial infrastructure.

The Circle Alliance Program connects organizations working to bring the global financial system on-chain through the use of Circle Stablecoins (USDC, EURC).

A GLOBAL ECOSYSTEM ADVANCING ON-CHAIN FINANCE

The Circle Alliance Program brings together fintechs, institutions, and infrastructure providers working to advance the adoption of digital dollars and blockchain-based financial services worldwide.

As part of this network, Tractial will collaborate with other members to explore new use cases leveraging EURC within on-chain financial use cases.

The program provides access to a global ecosystem of organizations contributing to the development of a more open and accessible financial system.

A REGULATED PLATFORM BRIDGING EUROS AND STABLECOINS

Tractial operates a regulated Banking-as-a-Service (BaaS) platform enabling platforms and businesses to integrate both traditional financial services and digital assets into their products.

Its infrastructure supports:

- euro-denominated accounts and payment flows
- seamless fiat-to-stablecoin access
- embedded financial services via APIs for SaaS platforms and marketplaces

By joining the Circle Alliance Program, Tractial further develops its role as a bridge between traditional finance and blockchain-based systems, particularly for European SMEs and embedded finance use cases.

SUPPORTING REAL-WORLD ADOPTION OF STABLECOINS

Over the past year, Tractial has developed infrastructure designed to integrate stablecoins into real-world business workflows.

Through its participation in the Circle Alliance Program, the company aims to support the deployment of hybrid financial use cases combining euro payments and stablecoin-based settlement within software platforms.

This milestone supports Tractial's broader strategy to contribute to the adoption of on-chain financial use cases across European platforms and businesses.
