Total Restructures Petroleum Product Logistics Operations in France

Paris, 20 January, 2010 - In response to declining petroleum product demand, Total will be gradually adjusting its logistics network in France. The process entails:

- Outsourcing the operations of five depots* to specialized logistics companies.
- Closing the Pontet depot in the Vaucluse region, southeastern France.
- Investing in the Port-la-Nouvelle petroleum product depot in the Aude region, south-central France, to double its capacity.

Following the restructuring, Total - No. 1 in France in petroleum product logistics - will still have a nation-wide logistics presence.

The project was presented to the Central Works Committee on January 20, 2010. Layoffs will be avoided through internal placements.

* Hauconcourt depot in the Lorraine region, eastern France
Saint-Julien depot in the French Alps region
Le Mans depot in the Loire region, western France
Ouireham depot in Lower Normandy
Port-la-Nouvelle depot in the Languedoc-Roussillon region, south-central France
