PSA Peugeot Citroën will begin a cycle of negotiations to create a new social contract contributing to the Group's turnaround

PSA Peugeot Citroën will begin a cycle of negotiations with the labour unions designed to create the conditions and resources needed to maintain its position as an automobile manufacturer deeply rooted in France.

With this initiative of a new social contract, the objective is to engage all employees, both individually and collectively, in PSA Peugeot Citroën's strategic vision and forward-looking plans and to renew and strengthen social dialogue in order to anticipate, share and support the Group's projects and turnaround.

The first meeting, to be held on 29 May, will cover the topics, challenges and objectives of the negotiations, as well as the timetable.
