

Medincell's Partner Teva presented New Data Providing Schizophrenia Treatment Insights into Switching to UZEDY® (risperidone) from Invega Sustenna® (paliperidone palmitate)

Teva presented seven studies from its LAI schizophrenia research program at the Psych Congress Elevate 2024 Annual Meeting, which took place from May 30 to June 2 in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Presentations included data informing clinical strategies for switching patients to UZEDY, an extended-release injectable suspension of risperidone for subcutaneous use every one or two months for the treatment of schizophrenia in adults, from a once-monthly intramuscular injection of Invega Sustenna.

Eric Hughes, MD, PhD, Executive Vice President of Global R&D and Chief Medical Officer at Teva said: "UZEDY is a long-acting formulation of risperidone with an innovative delivery system that requires no loading dose or oral supplementation and can be dosed at one- or two-month intervals to help with prevention of relapse. It can also be administered subcutaneously under the skin instead of intramuscularly, which is an important feature to discuss with patients. We are proud to share these clinical insights that may help healthcare providers understand more about switching between long-acting options for their schizophrenia patients."

About Medincell

Medincell is a clinical- and commercial-stage biopharmaceutical licensing company developing long-acting injectable drugs in many therapeutic areas. Our innovative treatments aim to guarantee compliance with medical prescriptions, to improve the effectiveness and accessibility of medicines, and to reduce their environmental footprint. They combine active pharmaceutical ingredients with our proprietary BEPO® technology which controls the delivery of a drug at a therapeutic level for several days, weeks or months from the subcutaneous or local injection of a simple deposit of a few millimeters, entirely bioresorbable. The first treatment based on BEPO® technology, intended for the treatment of schizophrenia, was approved by the FDA in April 2023, and is now distributed in the United States by Teva under the name UZEDY® (BEPO® technology is licensed to Teva under the name SteadyTeq™).
