

Investor Day

On track for long-term growth with a focused technology strategy

Tessenderlo-Ham, Belgium - September 9, 2025, 07.00 a.m. CEST

X-FAB, the European specialty foundry for the analog world, welcomes investors and analysts at its Investor Day in Brussels commencing today at 11.00 am CEST.

X-FAB will be presenting how it builds on established leadership in three strategic technology pillars, leveraging its strengths to accelerate innovation and deliver customer-centric solutions. X-FAB's technology focus on power, sensing, and microsystems applications is closely aligned with global needs and emerging market demands with a clear purpose to support worldwide efforts for decarbonization and the transformation of care for an aging population. This generates significant opportunities across X-FAB's core end markets automotive, industrial, and medical.

Despite the near-term challenges presented by global economic conditions and geopolitical tensions, the dynamic nature of the semiconductor industry and a currently reduced visibility, X-FAB expresses confidence in its long-term strategic position and announces the following financial targets:

	Guidance 2025 reiterated	Long-term financial ambition
Revenue	USD 840-870 million	high single-digit average growth across cycles
EBITDA margin	24-27%	>30%
CAPEX	USD 250 million	10-15% of revenue

The recordings of the Investor Day presentations will be made available on the company's website after the event.
