

Application for the delisting of Alcatel-Lucent shares on the Tokyo Stock Exchange

Paris - Tokyo, November 12, 2008 - Alcatel-Lucent (Euronext Paris and NYSE: ALU) today announced it has submitted an application to the Tokyo Stock Exchange ("TSE") for delisting of the shares on the TSE. Once the delisting is decided by the TSE, the shares will be designated as "securities to be delisted" and are expected to be delisted one month following the TSE decision.

On October 29, 2008, the Board of Directors of Alcatel-Lucent decided to delist the Company's ordinary shares from the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

This decision takes into account the small trading volumes of Alcatel-Lucent shares on the TSE, compared to the total trading volume of Alcatel-Lucent shares globally, in recent years. The Board of Directors concluded that the increased costs of maintaining the Company's listing and registration in Japan, and complying with reporting and other applicable Japanese obligations, is disproportionate to the benefits obtained by the Company and its shareholders as a whole. The impact of the delisting from the TSE on Japanese investors should be limited in light of Japanese investors' access to other major stock exchanges such as Euronext Paris, NYSE and Stock Exchange Automated Quotation system (or SEAQ) of LSE where the Company is listed.

The delisting will not have any impact on business activities of Alcatel-Lucent companies in Japan.
