

Agreement between Cegid and Broke Systèmes

Outsourcing of "logistics and equipment preparation"

Cegid, developer of management software, pursues its strategy of refocusing on its core areas of expertise.

Through a partnership agreement dated November 16, 2009 Cegid has delegated its "logistics and equipment preparation" activity to Broke Systèmes, a specialist in this business, and already one of Cegid's partners. Cegid customers who upgrade their IT configuration currently use Broke Systèmes for the management of their used equipment.

Through this agreement, and in the context of declining equipment sales, Cegid will be able to convert more costs into variable costs. The 21 Cegid employees dedicated to this business will transfer to Broke Systèmes.

This transaction follows Cegid's October 30 sale of its vertical solutions business for the construction industry. It will enable Cegid to focus on those areas of functional and industry-specific expertise in which its market positioning is strong (accounting and fixed asset management, taxes, financial reporting and management, HR/payroll management, retail, manufacturing, hospitality, services, wholesale, CPAs, public sector).
