Disposal of Faurecia shares held by One Equity Partners Significant broadening of Faurecia's free float

One Equity Partners has disposed today of its 13% share in Faurecia's capital, through a share placement to institutional investors. Prior to this placement, Faurecia had lifted the lock-up agreement held with One Equity Partners, which was defined in the terms of the EMCON Technologies acquisition contract. One Equity Partners entered into Faurecia's capital following the acquisition of EMCON Technologies in February 2010, an acquisition paid exclusively in new Faurecia shares.

Following this disposal, One Equity Partners will no longer hold any Faurecia stock.

The Faurecia capital is now split as follows:

- Peugeot S.A. 57.4%
- Free float 42.2% versus 29% previously
- Employee fund and treasury 0.4%

Yann Delabrière, Chairman and CEO of Faurecia stated: "We extend our warm thanks to One Equity Partners who have enabled us to perform the acquisition of EMCON Technologies, in line with our company strategy, in an activity which is key for our international growth. The disposal of the shares held by One Equity Partners will boost Faurecia's investor appeal and is an additional asset for the future development of our Group."

Lee Gardner, Partner at One Equity Partners and who was appointed to the Board of Directors of Faurecia in February 2010 following the acquisition of EMCON Technologies, will remain at the Faurecia Board of Directors as an independent member and will continue to offer Faurecia his expertise of the North American automotive industry.
