will present its project to modernize Paris-Orly
on 17 October 2012

Press release

Aéroports de Paris modernization project of Paris-Orly airport will be presented at a press conference on 17 October 2012.

This project which is in line with the current regulatory framework on the yearly limitation of airport slots and on the curfew, takes into account the increase in number of passenger per aircraft. It includes primarily the construction of a junction between the existing West and South terminals and the creation of a new boarding lounge dedicated to international flights.

To improve the reception of passengers and the efficiency and attractiveness of the airport vis-à-vis airlines, Aéroports de Paris is willing to offer to Paris-Orly the highest standards in terms of quality of service and comfort.

At this stage, the estimated amount of investment¹ ranges between €400 and 450 million (€ 2012) but could be revised by taking into account strategic priorities of Aéroports de Paris.

This project will be financed thanks to the current investment programme of the regulated perimeter of the second economic regulation agreement (period 2011-2015) and that of the third economic regulation agreement (period 2016-2020). At this stage, this project has no impact on the Group 2011 - 2015 targets.
