Nicox S.A. (Euronext Paris: FR0013018124, COX), the international ophthalmic company, today announced the presentation of seven posters highlighting scientific data for its internally developed and partnered pipeline candidates at the Association for Research in Vision and Ophthalmology (ARVO) 2016 Annual Meeting, one of the key scientific events in the ophthalmology calendar, which was held on May 1-5, 2016 in Seattle, Washington, United States.

Dr. Michael Bergamini, Chief Scientific Officer and Executive Vice President at Nicox, commented: "Beyond latanoprostene bunod and AC-170, for which New Drug Applications are under review with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), Nicox has a pipeline of promising and unencumbered ophthalmology assets targeting significant ocular indications, including blepharitis, glaucoma and certain conjunctival disorders. At ARVO this year, in addition to latanoprostene bunod presentations by Bausch + Lomb, Nicox presented three posters on our internally-developed pipeline candidates, NCX 667, NCX 1653 and NCX 4240. These preclinical studies provide early evidence of activity and/or tolerability and reflect our continued commitments to leveraging our proprietary nitric oxide (NO)-donating platform and to creating novel therapeutics to treat ocular diseases."

Details for the poster presentations at ARVO 2016 are as follows and abstracts have been published at the meeting website <http://www.arvo.org/AM/Program/>.
