

Helen Bradley joins Bureau Veritas as Executive Vice President, in charge of Human Resources

Neuilly-sur-Seine, France, May 31, 2018 – Bureau Veritas announces the appointment, effective June 1, 2018, of Helen Bradley as Executive Vice President, in charge of Group Human Resources. Helen’s responsibilities further extend to Quality, Health & Safety and Environment, Corporate Social Responsibility and External affairs. Succeeding Xavier Savigny, who has decided to leave the Group, Helen Bradley will be a member of the Group Executive Committee.

“We are delighted to welcome Helen Bradley to the Group Executive Committee of Bureau Veritas. Helen brings to us her extensive experience in human resources management in diverse international environments and will have the responsibility of a core mission for the Group’s sustainable development. I would like to extend my gratitude to Xavier Savigny for his contribution over the past five years, to the transformation of Bureau Veritas and the HR digitalization” said Didier Michaud-Daniel, Chief Executive Officer of Bureau Veritas.

Helen Bradley

Helen Bradley has more than 25 years of experience in managing Human Resources, based in various European countries and the USA. Before joining Bureau Veritas, Helen worked for Schneider Electric for 20 years, where she first held various HR management positions, supporting both regional operations and company business units. In 2006, she was promoted to Senior Vice President (SVP), HR and Internal Communication for the Industry business and, in 2010, expanded her responsibilities within the larger Infrastructure business. In 2013, she was appointed SVP HR, Global Operations and, in 2017, SVP HR, North America Operations. She started her career at Lloyds Bank, joining a few years later Yellow Pages Sales, a subsidiary of British Telecommunications, as Regional Personnel Officer. Helen Bradley, graduated in Accounting and Finance from Bristol Polytechnic (UK) and holds a postgraduate diploma in Personnel Management.
