TR Services is considered to be a major player in Voice-Data-Applications convergence. It has recently joined Syntec Informatique, the French Trade Association regrouping IT services providers, IT consultants and, software houses.

Provider of IT systems services

By becoming part of Syntec Informatique, TR Services is joining the community of IT systems service providers.

Synergies in terms of skills and expertise

After a series of acquisitions and mergers that have given it a complementary range of technological skills, the TR Services Group now has a particularly wide range of expertise in areas such as Network and Security Infrastructure, IT solutions, ToIP and Unified Applications.

Involvement in projects and discussions relating to the IT market

"It is important for us to be affiliated to a professional organisation capable of representing the TR Services Group and all areas of its business," commented Lionel Smeers, CEO of TR Services. "We aim to be involved in the projects and discussions led by Syntec Informatique within the highly concentrated market of IT convergence. This will give our clients an additional proof of our dependability and commitment to our profession."

About Syntec informatique

Syntec informatique is a professional association of IT services providers, software houses and technology consultancies. It represents around 1,000 companies, which account for 80% of the profession in terms of revenues and workforce. Syntec informatique has been chaired since June 2003 by Jean Mounet. It is involved in developing information and communication technologies (ICT) and their uses, as well as promoting software and services companies and defending the profession's collective interests.

Syntec informatique has particular expertise in observing and analysing the software and services sector, and provides the whole ICT ecosystem with figures and news of sector trends. It represents the sector with respect to various organisations and public authorities. www.syntec-informatique.fr
