200 DAYS OF THRILLS IN THE FRENCH AND EUROPEAN PARKS

Paris, 07 October 2021 - The Compagnie des Alpes parks* are going into thrill mode from 2 October to 7 November, with nearly 20 scare zones, no fewer than 10 haunted houses, revamped catering, 8 new shows and countless activities.

Each park offers a unique experience

Monsters or skeletons, nothing will be spared the reckless in Catacombes, the latest haunted house of Peur sur le Parc. On days, extended days or at night, visitors will be able to immerse themselves in unique settings and enjoy the season's countless events before taking a seat at the Cirque, transformed for the occasion into a horror buffet.

Famille monstre in 3D, Halloween dinner at the Table d'Arthur with strange creatures strolling about... Futuroween* is back for a "wickedly funny" time and a "big family thrill". On evenings, visitors will be able to rediscover the character of Grocauchemar in the new night-time show La Clé des Songes.

Ready for WAAALLOWEEN? Dr Mystic, the season's terrifying new star character, will be taking control of Walibi Rhône-Alpes. Alongside the MC, monsters will be present in the 3 themed haunted houses and the park's alleys. Dated WAAALLOWEEN tickets are available exclusively on the site.

A "more alive than ever" museum in the hands of funeral figures laughing in the face of death: that's the theme chosen by Grévin Paris for this year's All Saints holidays. All days will also be extended, with special promotional offers available.

The small world of France Miniature is being transformed for Halloween, with monuments taken over by bats, spiders et skeletons. Treasure hunts, magic potions and weird creatures are also on the programme.

After several months of closure following the floods that hit the country over the summer, Walibi Belgium is reopening for Belgium's biggest Halloween event, featuring three new large immersive areas including the terrifying Rebellion Land, the new Lost Forest haunted house and Bar'Hell, a new themed bar. Tickets are on presale on the site.

Witches and goblins are welcome at Bellewaerde and Bellewaerde Aquapark for Trick or Treat. The water park will also be themed, and visitors will be able to meet a real mermaid.

The famous Halloween Fright Nights and Spooky Days are back for a new edition where Darkness takes over and Eddie the Clown escapes... but is he really gone? During the day or at night, Walibi Holland will be taking things even further, with 3 new special experiences. Halloween Fright Nights has repeatedly been recognised as Europe's Best Halloween Event, and Below voted Europe's Best Halloween Attraction.

Magicians from other worlds are flocking to the dark forest of Familypark: parade, magic, acrobatics, pumpkins, dragons and haunted houses are all on the programme, for the pleasure of young and old alike. Ready for a spider burger?

Dracula, Frankenstein's monster and mummies of all kinds: this year, at Chaplin's World, Hollywood monsters are making movies. The museum is also running a competition with the hashtag #SelfieCWO.

Please note: specific sanitary measures have been implemented for this very lively and interactive season, in compliance with the standards in force in the countries and regions where the parks are located, in order to ensure the safety of visitors without compromising on the immersivity or experience.

 Except for Aqualibi, which is currently closed following the floods in summer 2021*

The Compagnie des Alpes parks... Halloween alchemists

The recipe for fear by “Compagnie des Alpes” is a whole lot of creativity, a dose of know-how to script each park, and a host of good ideas and technologies exchanged between the different sites. Constantly enriched to offer unique experiences, the Halloween season has become a major event in the Group’s parks, regularly rewarded and recognised by professionals in the sector, not to mention the more than 800,000 visitors who have attended in recent years.

This year, early indicators (presales, bookings) once again point to our audiences’ strong appetite for this event, in an operational environment that nevertheless remains subject to constraints.

François Fassier, Director of the Leisure Parks Division, said: “In just a few years, Halloween has become an unmissable event in France and throughout Europe. The leisure parks sector has skilfully met visitors’ expectations. For Compagnie des Alpes, this has meant taking it to all of its sites, extending the number of opening days and opening hours, and increasing the number of night-time openings. Developing activities over this period has allowed us to make Halloween an essential period for our customers, our employees – whose usual commitment resonates even more strongly in the current situation – and all of our partners”.
