Verdantix study confirms the relevance of the Energisme solution and its added value for companies seeking to enhance their energy optimisation

Energisme (FR0013399359/Ticker: ALNRG) announces the publication by independent research and consulting firm Verdantix of a report assessing the value proposition of Energisme's N'Gage platform for property managers and facility managers.

The main characteristics identified by Verdantix confirm the added value of Energisme's solution, which "pushes new boundaries in energy optimisation", thanks particularly to:

- Its impressive analytical capabilities and data platform, enabling companies to develop personalised algorithms
- Powerful analytics capabilities for trend and impact modelling
- Predictive modelling capabilities to improve action monitoring and implementation

Verdantix's conclusion is unequivocal: Energisme's N'Gage platform is now at the forefront of market solutions for companies looking to enhance their energy performance while benefiting from indicators concerning the return on investment from actions implemented and priority areas for improvement.

The study also includes a survey confirming the dynamic nature of the market by identifying the deployment of energy data management software solutions as a current investment priority for property managers and facility managers.
