NEW PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN FIGEAC AÉRO AND BOEING

FIGEAC AÉRO (FR0011665280 – FGA:FP), a leading partner for major aerospace manufacturers, announces a new partnership with Boeing involving the production of components in Morocco for the Boeing 737 MAX.

Jean-Claude Maillard, CEO of FIGEAC AÉRO stated: "This new agreement perfectly underlines our strategy of global coverage together with strong local presence. It also reflects the growth opportunities at our production facilities in Morocco and globally."

A NEW PARTNERSHIP THAT SUPPORTS STRATEGIC PLANS

The new partnership covers the production by Casablanca Aéronautique of a package of aluminum machined components for Boeing's 737 MAX.

With 900 employees, Casablanca Aéronautique is one of the largest production facilities of the FIGEAC AÉRO Group and offers industrial services from machining and sheet metal to processing as well as assembly work.

This announcement is consistent with the PILOT 28 strategic plan guidelines, singling out North America and North American customers as key to securing the Group's new business target. It therefore increases management confidence in the Group's ability to achieve this target.
