IFF-LMR Gains Industry-First FairWild Certification for Peru Balsam

NEW YORK, N.Y., (January 24, 2019) – IFF-LMR, a subsidiary of International Flavors & Fragrances Inc (NYSE:IFF) (Euronext Paris: IFF) (TASE: IFF) gained FairWild certification for Peru Balsam from El Salvador, an ingredient used in perfumery. The certification recognizes the Company's commitment to conserving natural resources, sustainable harvesting processes and fair working conditions. Once the harvest is complete, this will be the first FairWild-certified flavor or fragrance ingredient to be commercially available globally.

Established in 2008, the FairWild Foundation promotes the sustainable use of wild-collected ingredients, with a fair deal for those involved throughout the supply chain. FairWild Standards ensure the continued use and long-term survival of wild species and populations in their habitats, while respecting traditions and cultures, and supporting the livelihoods of stakeholders.

Bertrand de Preville, General Manager, IFF-LMR said, "Gaining FairWild certification for Peru Balsam underscores our commitment to responsibly sourcing ingredients, conserving natural resources and improving the livelihoods of farming communities." Mr. de Preville continued, "I am proud to say that IFF-LMR offers a portfolio of sustainable fragrance ingredients that satisfy our customers' needs and reduce our environmental footprint."

In addition to achieving FairWild certification for wild-collected Peru Balsam, the Company has seven For Life certified supply chains for natural ingredients; Rose harvested in Turkey, Vetiver from Haiti, Geranium Oil from Egypt, Patchouli and Ylang Ylang from Madagascar, Patchouli from Indonesia, Citronella from Togo, and in France, Orris and Blackcurrant Bud. IFF-LMR's operational facilities in Grasse and Aumont-Aubrac are also For Life certified.
